Writing Workshop with Dianne Wolfer National Novel Writing Month

It was a full house at Denmark Library with award-winning author Dianne Wolfer's writing workshop capping off National Novel Writing Month NaNoWriMo.

Dianne shared to a captive audience details of her writing process. From hand-written ideas to developing various drafts and poring over 100 year old archival objects for research.

Participants were challenged to write their own life moments in different points of view and 2-sentence work-in-project summaries. Dianne shared here insights in a Q & A about agents and ways to break into the publishing industry.

NaNoWriMo is a month long creative writing challenge where participants from all over the world are challenged to write a 50,000 word draft

Throughout November the library hosted a series of "write ins" every Friday and will now continue a Writers Group every Friday Morning at 10.30 am for those wishing to develop their writing in a supportive environment.

Dianne with Lesly, Nat, Mark, Grace, Elva and Barbara
