WINTER, Richard

Since retiring two years ago, I have volunteered my time to various community and sports groups and designed and built an energy efficient house in beautiful Hay. I see sustainable development of key industries (building/construction, tourism, farming, viticulture, renewable energy) as crucial to safeguarding Denmark's water supply and future development. Sustainable development will attract future residents to live and work here, enabling Denmark's current low rate base to grow and adequately fund essential services.

Over 30 years as a senior academic, I have lectured in strategic management, leadership and ethics, developed strong financial and communication skills and consulted across corporate, government and not for profit sectors. If elected, my work ethos will be threefold. Firstly, to listen and respond to resident's concerns. Secondly, to find common ground among people with competing and diverse values and interests. Thirdly, to strive for balance between business development and protecting the natural environment.
